Barbara Lunghi, Borsa Italiana's Head of Small & Mid Caps said:

“We are delighted that Frendy Energy has selected Aim Italia- Mercato Alternativo del Capitale as a venue to grow and gain access to capital. The listing has been a success in terms of capital raised and the number and diversity of investors. This means that even in difficult market conditions, this success shows that fast-growing companies with a strong business model are rewarded investors.”

Aim Italia- Mercato Alternativo del Capitale was created in January 2012 with the objective to simplify access to capital for SMEs. A balanced and appropriate regulation regime is in place, ensuring good governance from companies and the protection of investors.
